WILLIAM OWEN.

the famous drama of William Runn Kennedy's "The Servant in the House". This play has been presented before all the leading chautauques in the United States and is counted by the Redemptive Bureau as their greatest drawing card.

William Owen in the role of "Robert Smith" the "Brain man" presents a character of an English laborer groping blindly to reach his ideals. His daughter Mary, who is too young to realize and know her father (as she has been adopted by a rich family) while quite young. This character is portrayed by Miss Margaret Ulrich who has played leading roles in Shakespeare such as Ophelia in "Hamlet" and Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet".

This drama is pronounced by the "Chicago Daily News" as the most beautiful plays of all ages.

The company will arrive over the Santa Fe from California some time today and will be registered at the Adams.

The entertainment begins promptly at 8:25. The ticket sale is beyond expectation more seats having been sold than any other entertainment thus far. There are still a few good seats left which may be procured at the "Y".

RED CATSUP BOTTLE GETS YOUTH IN COURT

Charlie Eddington's Desire to Use Seasoning as Paint Results in Mixup in Local Cafe

Charlie Eddington was in particularly amiable frame of mind when he entered the French Kitchen with a party of his youthful friends late Saturday night.

The roistering blades seated themselves at a table and gave the waiter their order. While waiting for the supper to be served time hung heavy on the hands of the revelers. A bright red bottle of catsup on the table attracted the wandering eye of young Eddington and the happy thought came to him that the dun and dreary walls of the cafe would be the better for a trace of color, and he proceeded to decorate the walls and ceiling with generous gobs of the crimson condiment.

Charlie Sing, the Celestial who acts in the capacity of night manager of the place, made violent protest against the actions of the young man, and stated that he hated to see all the good catsup wasted, and besides, the owners of the place had already made arrangements regarding the decoration of the room, and that Mr. Eddington's efforts in that direction were entirely superfluous and quite unwelcome.

Instead of heeding the Chinaman's command to apply a soft pedal to the rough stuff, the vivacious youth conceived the brilliant idea of applying some of the catsup to Mr. Sing's countenance, and soon the son of the Celestial Kingdom was covered with the tomato pulp that his own mother would doubtless have had difficulty in recognizing her offspring. Not being satisfied with the effect produced by the liberal application of catsup to the features of Mr. Sing, Eddington seized a sandwich, and proceeded to rub it into the hair and eyes of the unfortunate waiter, having finished decorating the struggling Chinaman, Eddington planted a vicious blow on his victim and the latter made his escape. In the meantime, a riot call had been turned into the police station, and Night Captain McGrath hurried over to the place in time to see an auto, in which the young men had taken refuge, disappearing in the distance. However, the number of the machine had been observed by by-standers, and a search of the local garages was started by the officers. A short time later Capt. McGrath located the car at the Transcontinental garage, and arrived there just in time to hear Eddington reciting the details of the thrilling adventure to a group of admiring listeners. At the conclusion of the recital, the officer entered the place and gave the merry Mr. Eddington a most pressing invitation to accompany him to the police station, an invitation which was accepted with more or less reluctance by the young man.

Eddington will tell his sidesplitting story of the night's adventures to Judge McBride this afternoon, and in the meantime is at liberty under a $25 bond.

SPOONY YOUTH WILL FACE COURT CHARGE

David Talney was booked on a disorderly conduct charge at the police station Saturday night, and is at liberty on a bond of $100, for his appearance before Judge McBride this afternoon. The trouble grew out of some alleged misconduct on the part of Talney at a local theater that evening.

Miss Alice Allen, accompanied by William Peterson, had made arrangements to attend the movie show, and they were on their way there when Talney spied them. He followed them into the theater and took a seat immediately next to the young woman. Under the cover of the darkness which pervaded the house, Talney is alleged to have caused Miss Allen much annoyance by his actions, such as attempting to hold her hand, etc. The man's attentions finally grew so undesirable that Miss Allen spoke to her escort about the matter, and the latter at once pounced upon the unwelcome Mr. Talney and marched him over to the police station, where he was turned over to Captain McGrath, and booked on the charge above mentioned.

AMUSEMENTS

Empress

The five-part Essanay drama, "A Daughter of the City," featuring Marguerite Clayton and E. H. Calvert and released through the V-L-S-E corporation is a splendid feature from all standpoints. Miss Clayton takes the part of the daughter of the city and it is made very plain how beautiful young girls are lured from the paths of virtue by men of riches. Her mother would not let her marry the young man of her choice because he was poor, but finally relinquished all claim on her that a wealthy couple might adopt her as their daughter. The lady was a woman with a character of the highest type but her husband was one of Satan's own children but the young girl had a character which could not be shaken and all finally ends well as her former lover finally wins her away from them. It was considered by all who saw it last evening to be an excellent picture. Tonight will be the last showing for it.

Robert Warwick at Amuzu

No actor whom the movies have claimed from the ranks of the legitimate enjoys a more general popularity than Robert Warwick the stock leading man who deserted the stage for the screen. He took with him to the picture plays the art that made him one of the greatest stock leading men in America and in the picture, "The Stolen Voice" which he is to offer today at the Amuzu he finds splendid chance for the expression of the many talents he owns. He plays a spoiled and petted opera tenor who through jealousy of a physician his rival for the hand of a pretty girl, his golden voice is ruined. His subsequent humbling and his restoration and life after he is put through the fires of reverse circumstances makes a plot that finds happy expression in the talents of this handsome actor. He is supported by a splendid cast in a World Film Co. production. The program today arrived yesterday from Los Angeles and is in the theater. Winners of the baby contest will be announced tonight.

Blanche Ring at the Arizona Tonight Only

Blanche Ring, the celebrated comedienne, has been coaxed into motion pictures by Oliver Morosco and will be presented in "The Yankee Girl," an adaptation of her great musical comedy success of several seasons ago at the Arizona tonight only. The charge of artificiality often lodged against musical productions never applied to "The Yankee Girl," with its breezy wit and capital situations. It applies even less to its Morosco filmization in view of the beautiful marine scenes taken at the world-famous Catalina islands, and the fascinating scenes taken at the Fernandez Sanchez ranch house, a landmark 150 years old, half-way between Los Angeles and San Gabriel and one of the historic taverns of the mission days. The dramatic possibilities Morosco has developed from the Blanche Ring musical hit by the simple expedient of staging it in natural scenery, a thing only possible in motion pictures, opens up a new vista for the higher class musical comedies. Blanche Ring is splendid in "The Yankee Girl," which will be the attraction at the Arizona tonight only.

At the Lamara

"The Green Eyed Monster" grips you and doesn't let go even after you are out of the theater," is the statement of Oscar Cooper in a recent issue of the Motion Picture News, in which the most recent release of William Fox featuring Robert B. Mantell and Genevieve Hammer is discussed. "In this story Robert B. Mantell's acting is powerful and unforgettable," continues Mr. Cooper. "We had the advantage of watching its effect upon an audience, and it is simple truth to say that the spectators were almost awestruck. Calls for nothing less than the murder of a brother by a brother who cannot accept his defeat in love, the murderer's proposal to the widow of the murdered man, and her refusal. Years afterwards the murderer takes the son of the murdered man to the chest and shows him his father's bones and the boy collapses. At last he goes insane and passes from the world in which he had done so much toadden its brightness. This briefly is the story of the picture that will be the feature at the Lamara theater tomorrow as well as today. A great cast has been chosen to assist Mr. Mantell and Miss Hammer.

Edwin Arden in "The Grey Mask"

MANY NEW FRUITS ARE DISCOVERED

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Many new fruits, flowers, vegetables and trees, believed adaptable to the United States have been gathered during a three year expedition in China just concluded by Frank N. Meyer, plant explorer of the department of agriculture. Mr. Meyer went through central China 1,500 miles on foot to the borders of Tibet, touching some regions never before visited by a white man.

The most important discovery probably was the julube tree, which bears a heavy crop of brownish fruit delicious when fresh and forming when dried a confection similar to the Persian date. Officials believe it offers a new industry to California and the southwest.

Mr. Meyer discovered a wild peach, resistant to alkali, cold and drought, the root system of which offers great possibilities as a grafting post. Chinese persimmons larger than any hitherto known in this country, a quail food roots and vegetables offering promising possibilities for the utilization of swamp lands; about thirty varieties of vegetables and timber bamboo; and a number of Chinese vegetables, bush and climber roses, shrubs and trees. In a hitherto unvisited valley in Tibet he found a hazel tree 100 feet high, a surprising departure from the hazel bush. Elsewhere English walnuts were discovered in a wild state.

Plantings were secured of a Chinese white pink tree remarkable for its white bark and among the roses found was a variety Rosa Xanthina, bearing small light yellow flowers, which promises to lead to the production of new hardy types of yellow roses. Yellow rambler roses also were found

LIEUTENANT ASQUITH A POET

Son of British Premier Issues a Volume of War Verses

Lieut. Herbert Asquith, son of England's prime minister, has just published in London a small volume of war poems, "The Volunteer," from which the book takes its name, and "The Fallen Subaltern," especially are praised by the London Observer, which quotes the finale of the latter as follows:

One last salute: The bayonets clash and glisten;
With arms reversed we go without a sound;
One more has joined the men who lie and listen
To us who march upon their burial ground.

Tonight at the Elks theater the Redmonds will stage for the first time in this city, the well known New York success, "Help Wanted." This play originally presented by Oliver Morosco, is conceded to be one of the most interesting and heart-gripping type of drama ever staged. The story shows in a vivid manner the trials and tribulations of a working girl in a large city who is forced to receive the attentions of her employer in order to hold her position. In the story of the play the young girl concerned is quite fortunate, for when the man whose reputation has been saved on previous occasions through the shrewdness of his lawyer; attacks her she is saved by his foster-son Jack who already being smitten with her beauty has proposed marriage. While the play is tensely dramatic, the author has supplied the major portion of the action with comedy scenes and this feature serves to enhance the thrilling situations. Roscoe Karns will portray the role made famous by Charlie Ruggles.
